

PEAK 7 ADVENTURES

2018 ANNUAL REPORT

"2018 was filled with amazing stories of transformational experiences on mountains, lakes, rivers and rocks. On any given Peak 7 adventure, youth give up being connected to technology, learn to trust our guides, and sometimes for the first time ever, trust themselves.

When they stand at the summit after days of grueling hikes, laugh nervously through class 4 rapids, or repel from heights they didn't know were possible, it changes their outlook on life. They have a new story to tell! They carry a story of accomplishment, a memory of how they overcame the hardest outdoor challenge they have ever done. They carry grit and inner-belief! The memories created on Peak 7 trips are often a well of encouragement that can be brought to surface when they need it most.

It's our hope that every young person who joins us in the outdoors not only leaves with a sense of empowerment and accomplishment, but also with a true sense of their incredible value and of God's endless love for them."

"It's hard to explain what it often truly looks like to arrive at these places. What is just a pretty picture of the summit or a route, doesn't depict the raw minute to minute efforts; the frustrations, anger, and belly aching laughing fests which go hand in hand with these adventures. No one sees the time it takes to fulfill ones most basic needs in the backcountry. These ladies have not only experienced these beautiful mountain top moments but more importantly have struggled through and succeeded in the in between and the unseen processes and emotions which only a handful of people can comprehend." - Mandy, Young Women's BAC guide.

"We had a blast. Two kids made it a point to tell me the trip was the most fun they'd had in a long time. It was good seeing these kids just be kids. They have a lot of life situations that force them to grow up quickly. It was a blessing to me and them. Thank you!"
